Reflections of Student Ambitions Shown

n Part-time Jobs

After school hours means working at jobs by many Greenfield High School students. Places of employment may be a supermarket, a flower shop, a drive-in, a gas station, etc.

These after-school jobs are a boon to most high school students. They are a means to meeting many necessary expenses. They also afford high school students an opportunity to develop their budgeting experience. For many, jobs make possible a higher education after graduation.

GHS Teens Offer Service to Community

n Various Activities

Aside from each school day, many active teens devote time to various organizations within the community. These organizations round out the students' days and give a teen the opportunity to make worthwhile contributions that benefit many.

GHS students are involved in many activities, including Rainbow Girls, Girl Scouts, DeMolay, Gold Teens and the March of Dimes Program.

Students Are Found Where the Action Is

Students' leisure-time is consumed by those activities which today's young people enjoy most. After long hours of concentrated study, students head for the nearest spot where the action is. Here, day-to-day pressures seem to disappear and an informal exchange of views is the rule.

Students Make Last Minute Preparations

Studies consume a large part of a student's day. This study may be hurried as glancing through notes. It may be a last-minute preparation which reflects anxiety. Whatever the type of study, the conscientious student, with an eye to the future, makes certain his day-to-day study requirements are met.

Workshops Provide Specialized Training

Summer was a time for learning and serious effort by many GHS students. These pupils were selected to attend summer sessions due to talents in some special area.

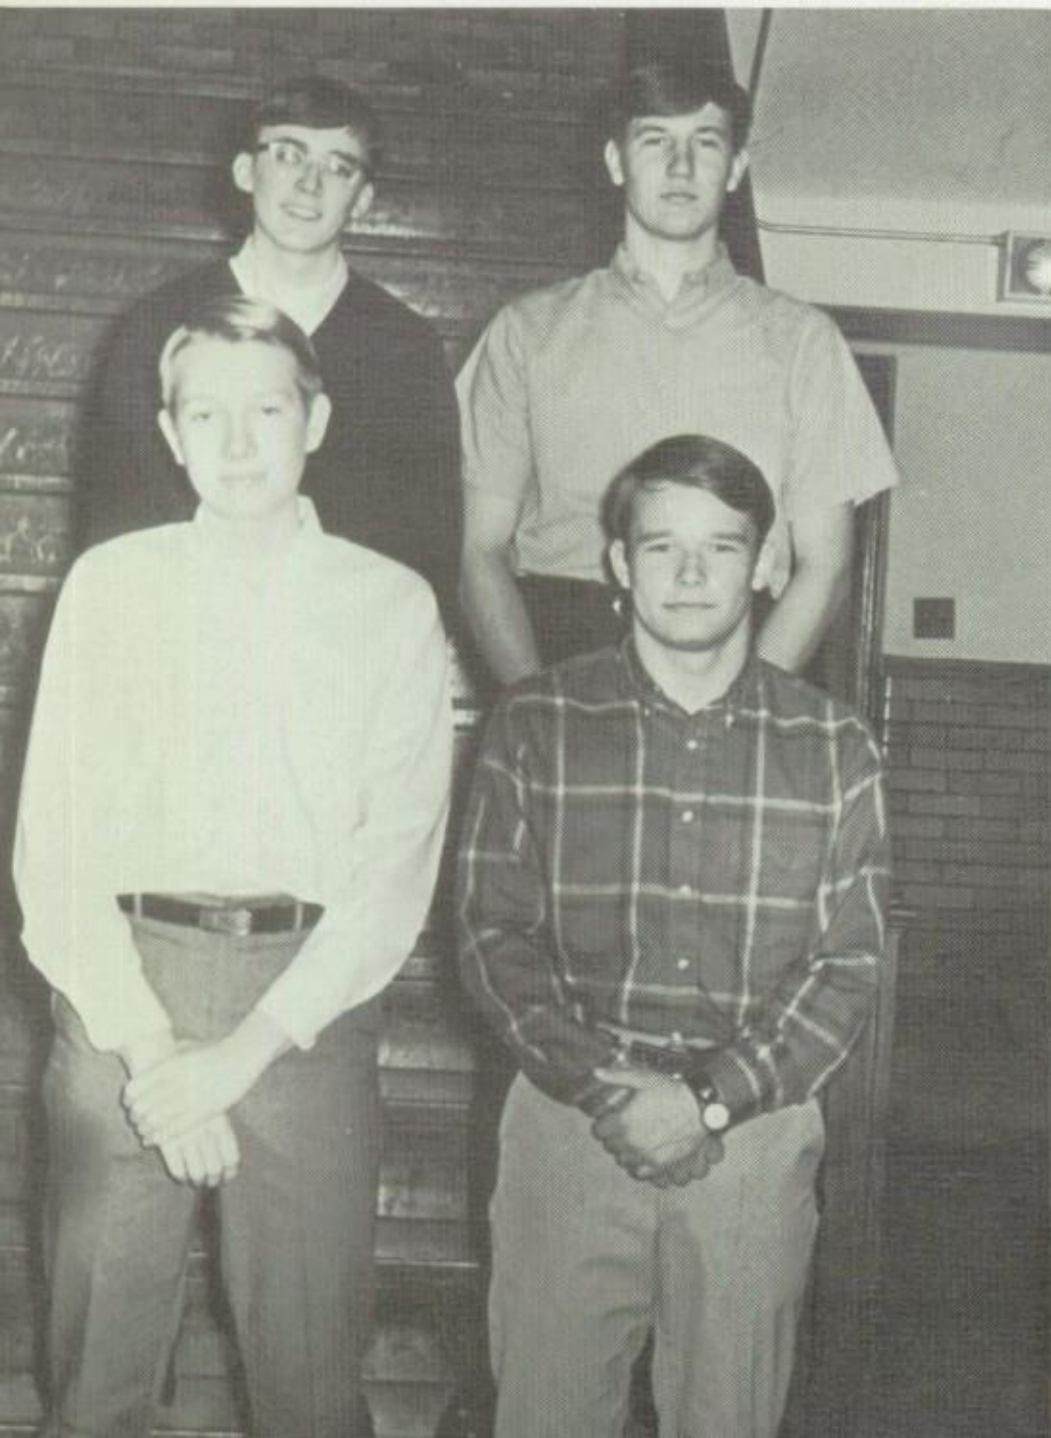

Mark Harrison represented WSMJ Radio Station at the Broadcasting Institute held at Indiana University. Carol Smitherman attended Psi Ote sponsored Speech and Hearing Clinic at the Western Michigan University campus. Tom New was the representative at the Camp for Christian Athletes.

Chris Dowling, Carol Smitherman and Martie Holt were delegates from their respective Tri-Hi-Y Clubs to attend the Mid-West Y Conference.

Greenfield was represented by Vicki Owens and Diane Jenkins at the newspaper and yearbook workshops at Ball State.

Several GHS students attended Mid-America Music Camp held at Ball State University. Carol Gossett and Sally Draper attended the vocal music sessions and Alan Halton, Steve Bender, Darlene Barker, Kathy Boling and Roberta Arnold represented instrumental music for GHS.

The 1967 Girls' State delegates were Kathy Boling and Diane Jenkins, and alternates were Marsha Brooks and Sally Draper. Tim Beeson and Mark Harrison attended Boys' State while Rick Gregory and Steve Bender served as delegates.

Assemblies for Variety of Programs

The many moods of a student are reflected in a GHS assembly. Holiday convocations invoke thoughtful moments while the spirited "pep session" inspires unrestrained enthusiasm. Here technological advances are presented by private manufacturers to the student body. The assembly is a very large part of the student's activities.

Greenfield Sportsmen Excel in All Areas

Each season introduces a different sport to GHS. The school year begins with cross country and football. Wrestling and basketball coincide with the winter months. Spring sees the commencement of track, golf, tennis and baseball.

the Dramatic Fields

During the current school year, GHS Drama Club members displayed their versatility in two distinctly different productions.

"Bells Are Ringing," a gay musical, was concerned with the deeds of a do-gooder. Carol Gossett and Mark Harrison played the lead roles. Others in the cast were: Dave Chandler, Kathy Boling, Kevin McClaron, Barry Morris, Stan Lapsley, and Mark Shumard ("She seems like such a nice girl.")

Early in the spring our Thespians presented George Orwell's "1984". It's theme, a world totalitarian government, made a strong impact upon the audience.

Leading roles were extremely well executed by Susan Free and Mark Harrison. The capable supporting cast included: Richard Vise, Terri Glascock, Diane Sisson and Mark Shumard.

Greenfield High School Drama presentations are under the able direction of Drama Club co-sponsors, Mr. Richard Greenland and Mrs. Jane Keene.

And Wonderful Thing

High school graduation symbolizes the fruition of hopes born in the cradle. It is the occasion for solemn processions which mark a temporary respite in planning and decisions.

With high school graduation the threshold of the future has been reached. The doors ahead are waiting to be opened.

Who knows what fate holds in store? Today's graduate is forthright and unafraid. He seeks and meets all challenges. His world is one of many churning problems. Solutions are imperative.

Today's graduate holds tomorrow's destiny in his palms. Today his future looks bright. There are no shadows. Today deep satisfaction from accomplishment prevails.

Superintendent J. B. Stephens awards diploma to John Roberts.

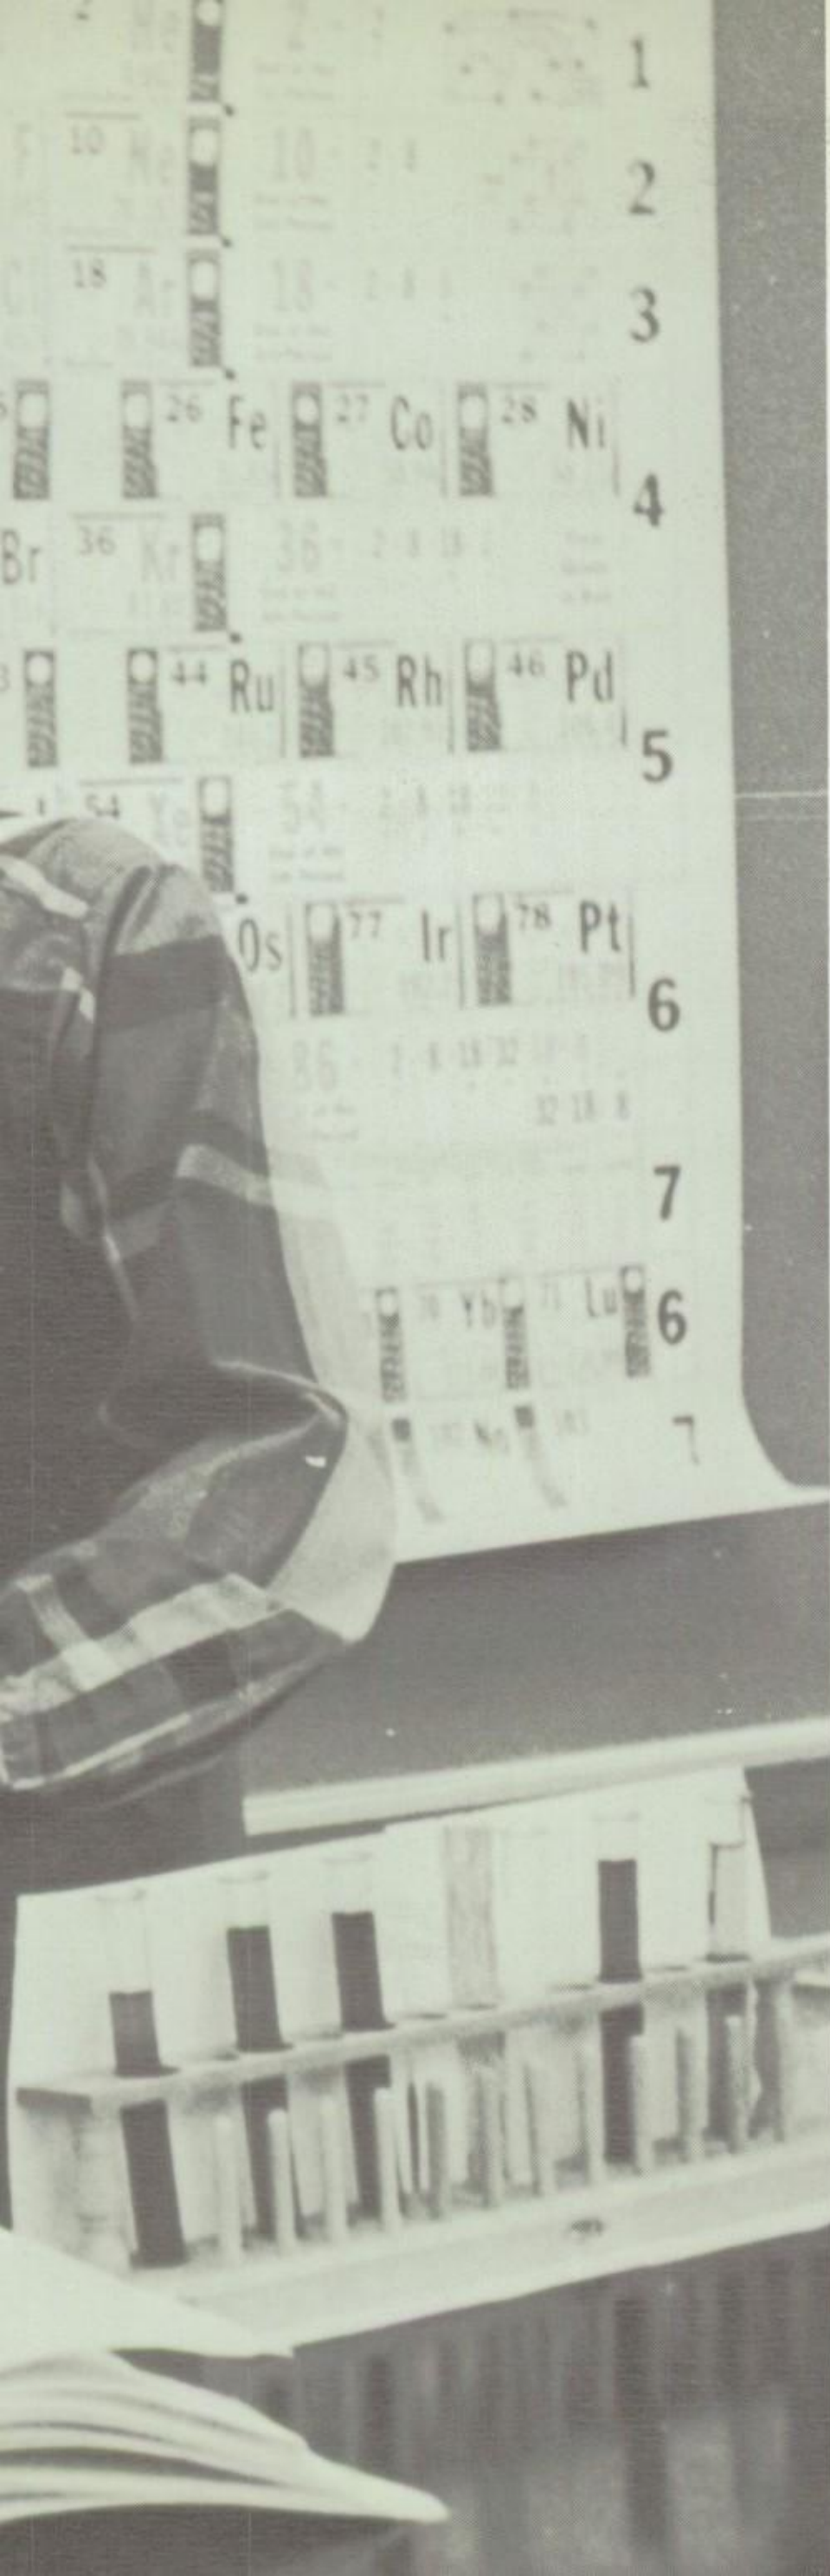

Congratulations please Vicky Bradshaw.

Academics

Academic life at Greenfield High School reflects years of study and improvements in curriculum. New classes and opportunities are steadily being added to improve the total education of the student body. Areas of study include mathematics, science, language arts, foreign language, vocational arts, business education, fine arts, and social studies.

Faculty and administration are vitally interested in each student developing his talents to the fullest extent. Through the guidance department, each student receives individual attention in selecting his high school curriculum and planning for the future. Through working with others and by increasing his academic development, the student leaves Greenfield High School ready to meet future challenges.

Administration Plans Changes

Tiger ball games, home room announcements, and special convocations are all part of the job of being principal of Greenfield High School. This position has been held by Mr. Ernest Tidrow since 1960. He is interested in all areas of student life. He seeks logical solutions whenever problems arise during the school day. He listens willingly to students and tries to guide them in making the correct decisions.

Principal Ernest Tidrow, Superintendent J. B. Stephens, and school board members of the Greenfield-Central School system have worked diligently toward the completion of the new Greenfield-Central High School. Mr. Tidrow, Mr. Pfaff, and Student Council members have been busily engaged in the job of moulding two high schools into one. The Student Councils of both schools have adopted new colors and the Cougar mascot to represent Greenfield-Central.

Miss Evelyn Gray occupies the responsible position of Dean of Women, Guidance Counselor, and Sponsor of National Honor Society and Cheerblock for Greenfield High School. She adds to Tiger spirit through her office decor and many banners made by cheerleaders which brighten the halls. Miss Gray administers tests which guide and prepare us for the future years.

Mr. Don Pfaff serves Greenfield High School as Dean of Men and Assistant Principal. He also serves as Athletic Director and Student Council sponsor. In addition, he spends countless hours talking to students and trying to advise them in the best possible way. Scheduling athletic events also occupies much of Mr. Pfaff's time.

Miss Gray and Mr. Pfaff discuss plans for the annual Hancock County College Night, which attracts college-bound Juniors and Seniors.

Language Arts Forges Ahead

The English Department of Greenfield High School seeks to coordinate the varied aspects of the Language Arts Program. Under the guidance of our teachers, students learn to improve their oral and written communication. Understanding and interpreting correctly today's needs are aims of the English Department. Four years of study in grammar, composition, and literature are offered to Greenfield students. Speech and Journalism also offer students an opportunity to develop their writing talents. To promote growth and development in the English area, departmental meetings are held frequently to exchange ideas and discuss policies and common problems.

The social studies mirror reflects civilizations of long ago. By studying the past, we can better understand the present and the future. Civics and government courses prepare students to become responsible, active, and worthy citizens of our United States. Other courses offered by the high school Social Studies Department include United States History, Family Relations, and Contemporary Problems. Members of the department have been making plans for expanding the social studies program in the new high school.

Business Mirrors Responsibility

Greenfield High School offers a variety of Commercial courses: Typing, Shorthand, Business Law, and Bookkeeping. Faculty members of the Business Education Department are planning further expansion in this area of training.

This year, Distributive or Co-operative Education has been added to the Business Education curriculum. Several students took advantage of this opportunity to learn more about actual business practices. Co-op students work two periods each day in some business in the community. Future expansion of this program is being planned.

During the holiday season the decorative touch of the Art Department is evident throughout the school building. Eye-catching posters and the beautifully executed decor for our Junior-Senior Prom are just a few of the fine efforts of our young artists.

Many school productions are augmented by musical talent—instrumental and choral. Our musicians are sought and enjoyed locally and statewide. Many awards have been won and talent indicates many more.

Boys and girls enjoy the use of gymnasium facilities to keep in good physical condition. Students participate in a variety of sports during the school year. Some work to improve the individual skills; others are vital to the team effort. Physical education is a required course of study. In addition to the regular school year program, students may register for summer school physical education training. Many students take advantage of this summer opportunity.

One semester of health is also required for graduation. Fire squads used during fire drills are appointed from the health classes.

There has been an upgrading in the Foreign Language Department of Greenfield High School. During the past three years French and German have been added. The high school curriculum now includes two years of Latin, French, and Spanish.

Language textbooks are supplemented with tapes and records. Oral reading and conversation in a foreign language is encouraged. Also, foreign magazines are available for student reading.

Dining in restaurants which cater to the taste for Spanish, French, and German foods is enjoyed by students. Roman banquets have been held to familiarize students with the customs of these early people.

During the past year a cosmopolitan touch was added. A holiday dinner which included French, German, and Spanish food was enjoyed by GHS Foreign Language students. This occasion was followed by singing songs from foreign lands.

Vocational classes in Greenfield High School include Industrial Arts and Home Economics.

Girls taking Advanced Home Economics learn to plan and prepare delicious dinners. These efforts include a delicious Christmas dinner at which faculty members are guests. The effort of the clothing students culminates in a very impressive and gala Spring Fashion Show. During the past year the girls also enjoyed a very successful bake sale.

The Industrial Arts Department introduces boys to techniques which are important to modern industry. The fundamentals of electricity are studied. Woodworking projects include many useful and attractive items for the home. Boys interested in engineering and drafting are taught the fundamentals of mechanical drawing. Those taking printing learn theory and enjoy the experience of practical production.

Sports

Sports, expanding, improving, always changing at Greenfield High School reflects an important activity of the student body. Each year new athletes strive to keep up with the winning tradition of the school.

Practice after school takes up much of the athletes' time. Hours are devoted to calisthenics, improving plays and techniques, and perfecting teamwork. The coaches push the boys to their limit and the result is a winning season.

Scrapping Tigers Topple Tough Opponents

Coach Stanley relates special strategy to team.

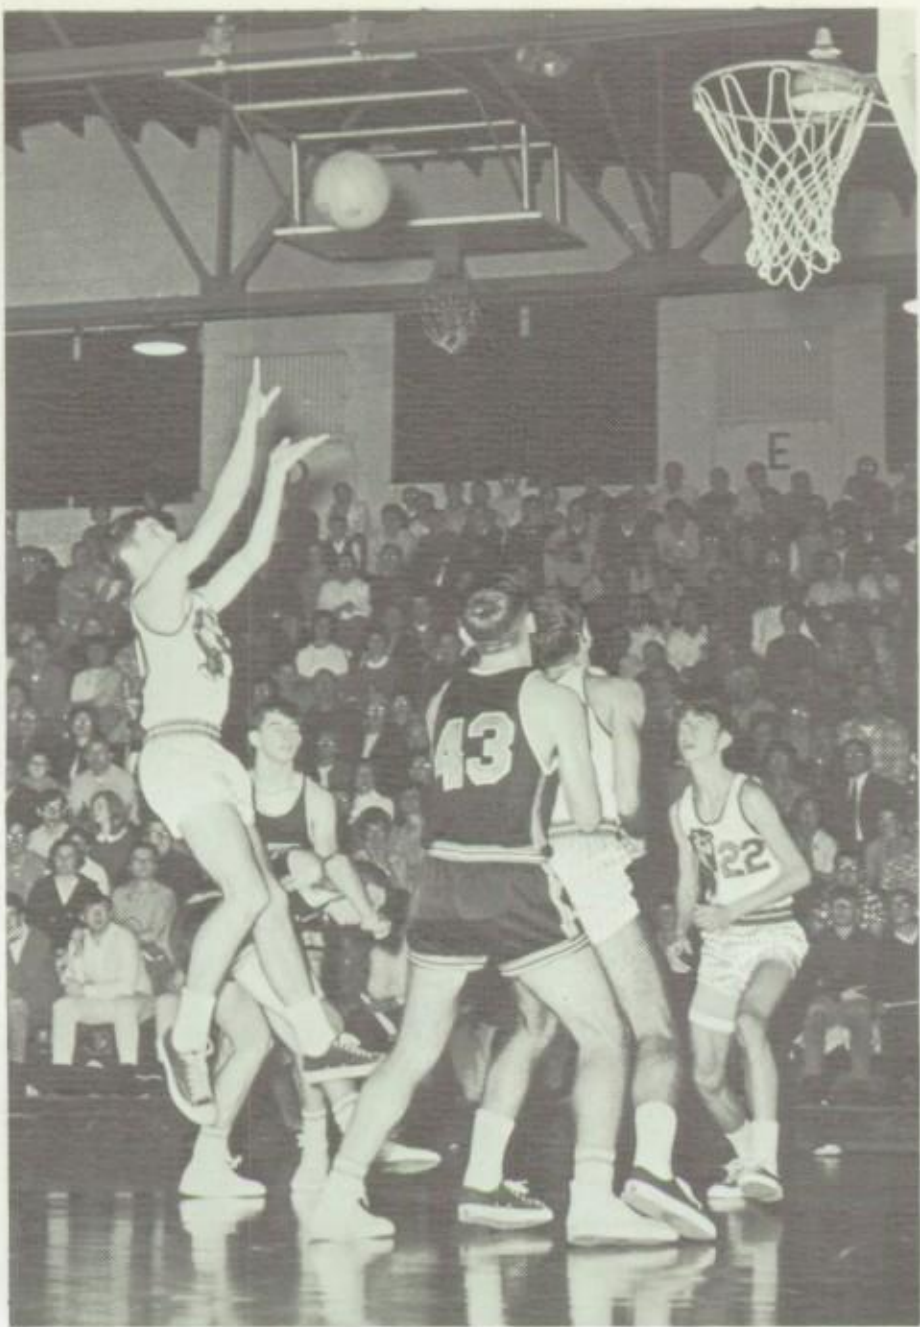

GHS was proud of its '67-'68 basketball team. Each member displayed keen desire and special skill, acquired from long hours of practice. This was a team which inspired loyalty and following. The team's fans were loyal boosters who appeared at every game. This tremendous support continued through the Sectionals.

Under the able leadership and coaching of Joe Stanley, our Tigers learned to play a brand new type of ball game. This is the kind of influence which makes for high performance.

Randy Herrell and Steve Kirkpatrick practice as Coach Miller looks on.

Organizations

Clubs and organizations, a necessary part of school life, reflect general enthusiasm and vitality of the student body. Clubs are designed for individual interests and talents: GAA, Drama Club, FTA, the Tri-Hi-Y's, etc. The Student Council maintains communications between the faculty members and student body. We are very proud of our National Honor Society. Our Cheerblock is outstanding and its voice resounds throughout the state. Clubs and organizations promote understanding and friendship and encourage maturity.

Yearbook Staff Looks to Future and Progress

Annual Staff members start their work in August. At this time they contact advertisers and patrons. It is also the time when staff members do the initial planning of the annual for the coming school year. The result of such planning is known as the ladder; the pages and the subject matter to be presented.

After the organization of the annual has been agreed upon, staff members assume responsibility for designated sections—administration, students, sports, etc.

Periodically, staff members meet with a publishers' representative to discuss and decide upon the style of type, quality of paper, size of book, cover, date of delivery, and a few minor details.

Other duties of staff members include preparing written copy, collecting subscription money, page planning, assisting one another, meeting with the sponsor, meeting deadlines, and planning pictures.

This year's Annual Staff initiated a first in the history of the Camaraderie. They have included in this book a cross section of the entire year's events, with a fall delivery date.

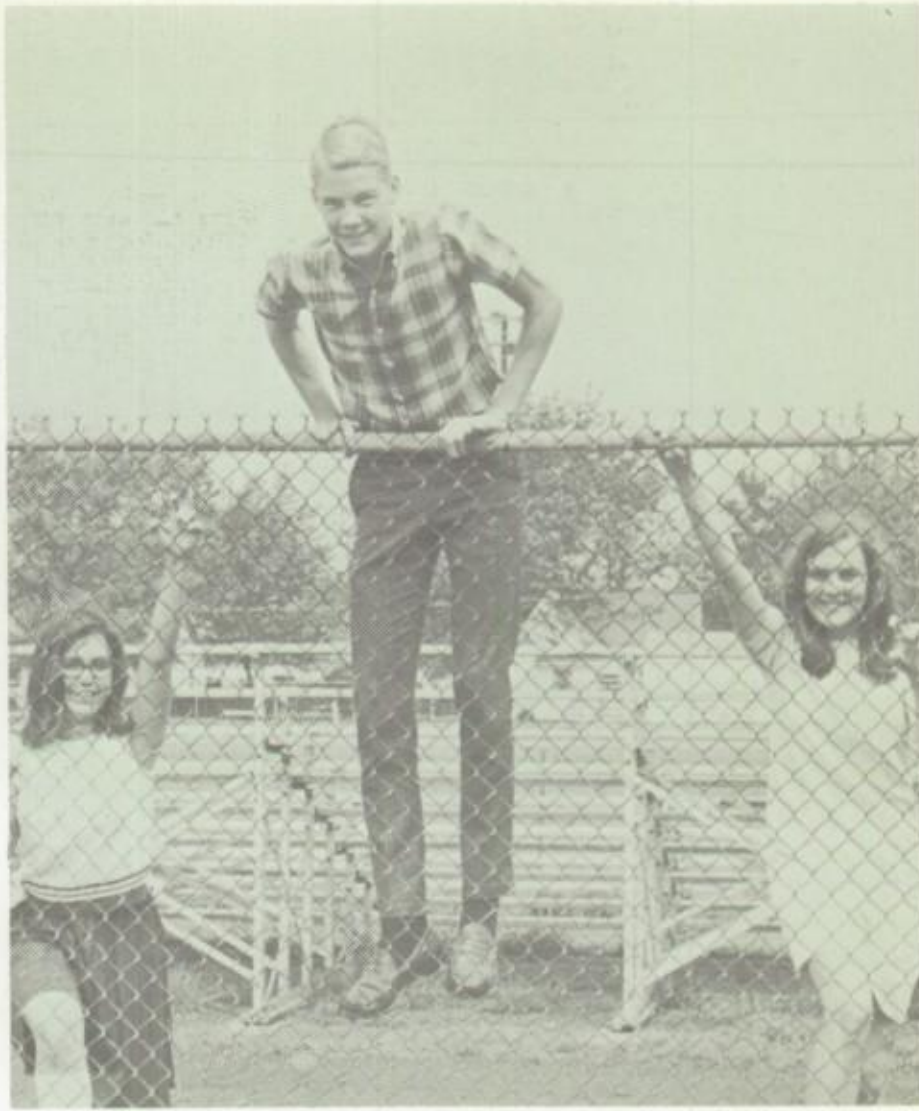

Mark Shumard, Senior, was responsible for the majority of pictures in this book.

Honoraries Consider Needs of New School

Jean Griffing and Mike Barnhart discuss the future of Tiger Tracks.

Two GHS organizations which have made many worthwhile contributions toward improving school life are the Student Council, sponsored by Mr. Don Pfaff, and the National Honor Society, whose sponsor, Miss Evelyn Gray, also serves as Guidance Counselor and Dean of Girls.

During the current year, Student Council members met on several occasions with representatives from Hancock Central. A new handbook was discussed, and decisions concerning school colors were made in anticipation of the new consolidated school building.

In addition to making suggestions concerned with school policies, Student Council members were responsible for planning the annual Homecoming, which is held in the fall of each year.

Membership in the National Honor Society is a high honor. On the shoulders of this honor rests a responsibility to create an enthusiasm for scholarship among others; to render service; to promote worthy leadership to encourage the development of character.

This year, under the leadership of Miss Evelyn Gray, the National Honor Society co-sponsored a Thanksgiving dance. Tassels for seniors were purchased. Also, honor members made their annual donation to the Scholarship fund.

Children Find Santa in Senior Tri-Hi-Y

Clean speech, clean sports, clean scholarship, and clean living are the foundation goals for Senior Tri-Hi-Y members, sponsored by Mrs. Joanna Hayes.

This year Senior Tri-Hi-Y activities included the giving of a Thanksgiving basket and donating services to Santa's Helpers. Also, an annual Christmas party was held for worthy children selected from the community's elementary schools. Each youngster received a filled stocking and enjoyed refreshments.

An important project during the current year was the division of the Senior Tri-Hi-Y Club into three, 21-member sections. The objectives of smaller group association are to promote deeper understanding and closer friendships.

Happiness Comes With Service for Others

Junior Tri-Hi-Y was founded by the Y.M.C.A. for Freshman and Sophomore girls who live by the highest standards and find happiness in doing for others. Sponsored by Mrs. Ray Bartnick, Tri-Hi-Y activity includes service projects and social functions.

The present school year has been an active one for the club. In addition to filling the annual Thanksgiving basket, members prepared packages of baked goods for patients in the Riley Park Nursing Home. Before the holidays they spent an evening making Christmas decorations which were used to make others happy. During the holidays Tri-Hi-Y also sang carols to the less fortunate. Many of the worthy efforts of these girls are made possible by their various money-making projects. This year their money-making activity was the distribution of advertising leaflets for local merchants.

Senior Hi-Y Sponsors Thanksgiving Program

Senior Hi-Y, sponsored by Mr. Bishop, is an organization for Junior and Senior boys who find inspiration in being of service to others. The high goals set by the club members include clean speech, clean thoughts, clean sports, and clean living.

Members of Hi-Y are active in many aspects of school life. In 1967, the club sponsored the annual Thanksgiving program, with Reverend Cyrus Herod as the speaker.

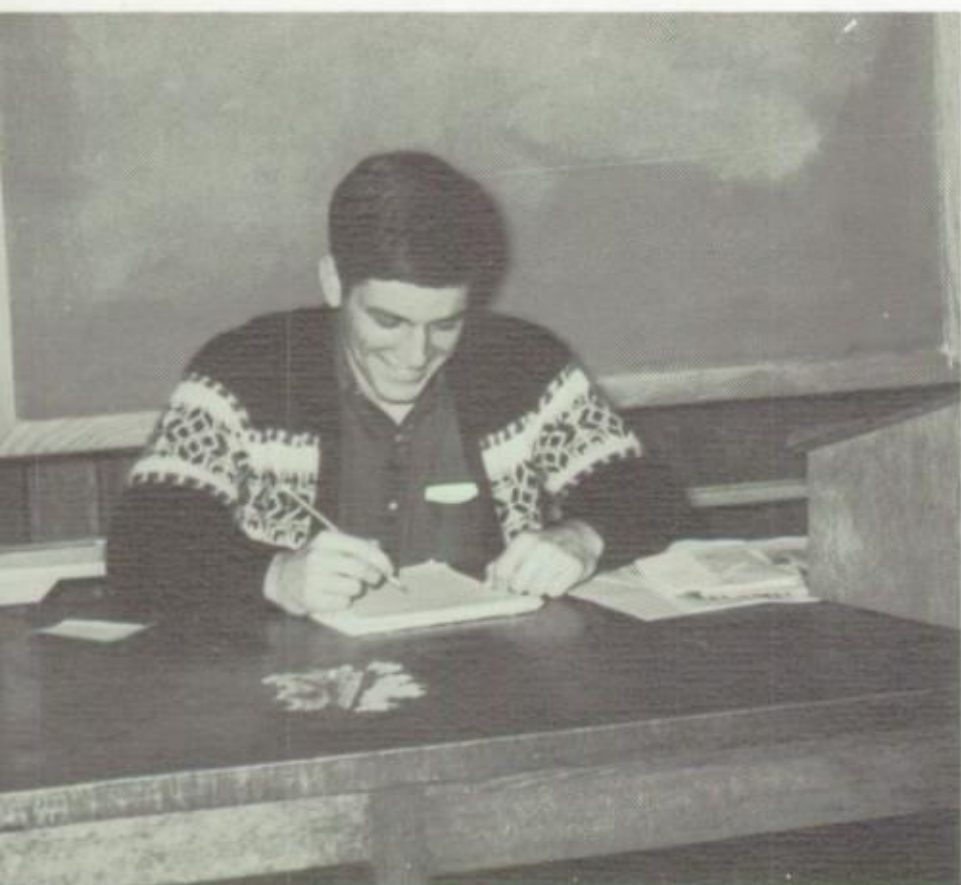

Designated Hi-Y members keep current the activities billboard in front of the school building. They are also responsible for the Track Record board in the gym.

Senior and Junior Hi-Y members deserve special compliment for their donation to the Greenfield Scholarship Fund.

Marty King and Rick Gregory gladly relinquish valuable study time for service to club.

Junior Hi-Y Commences First Service Year

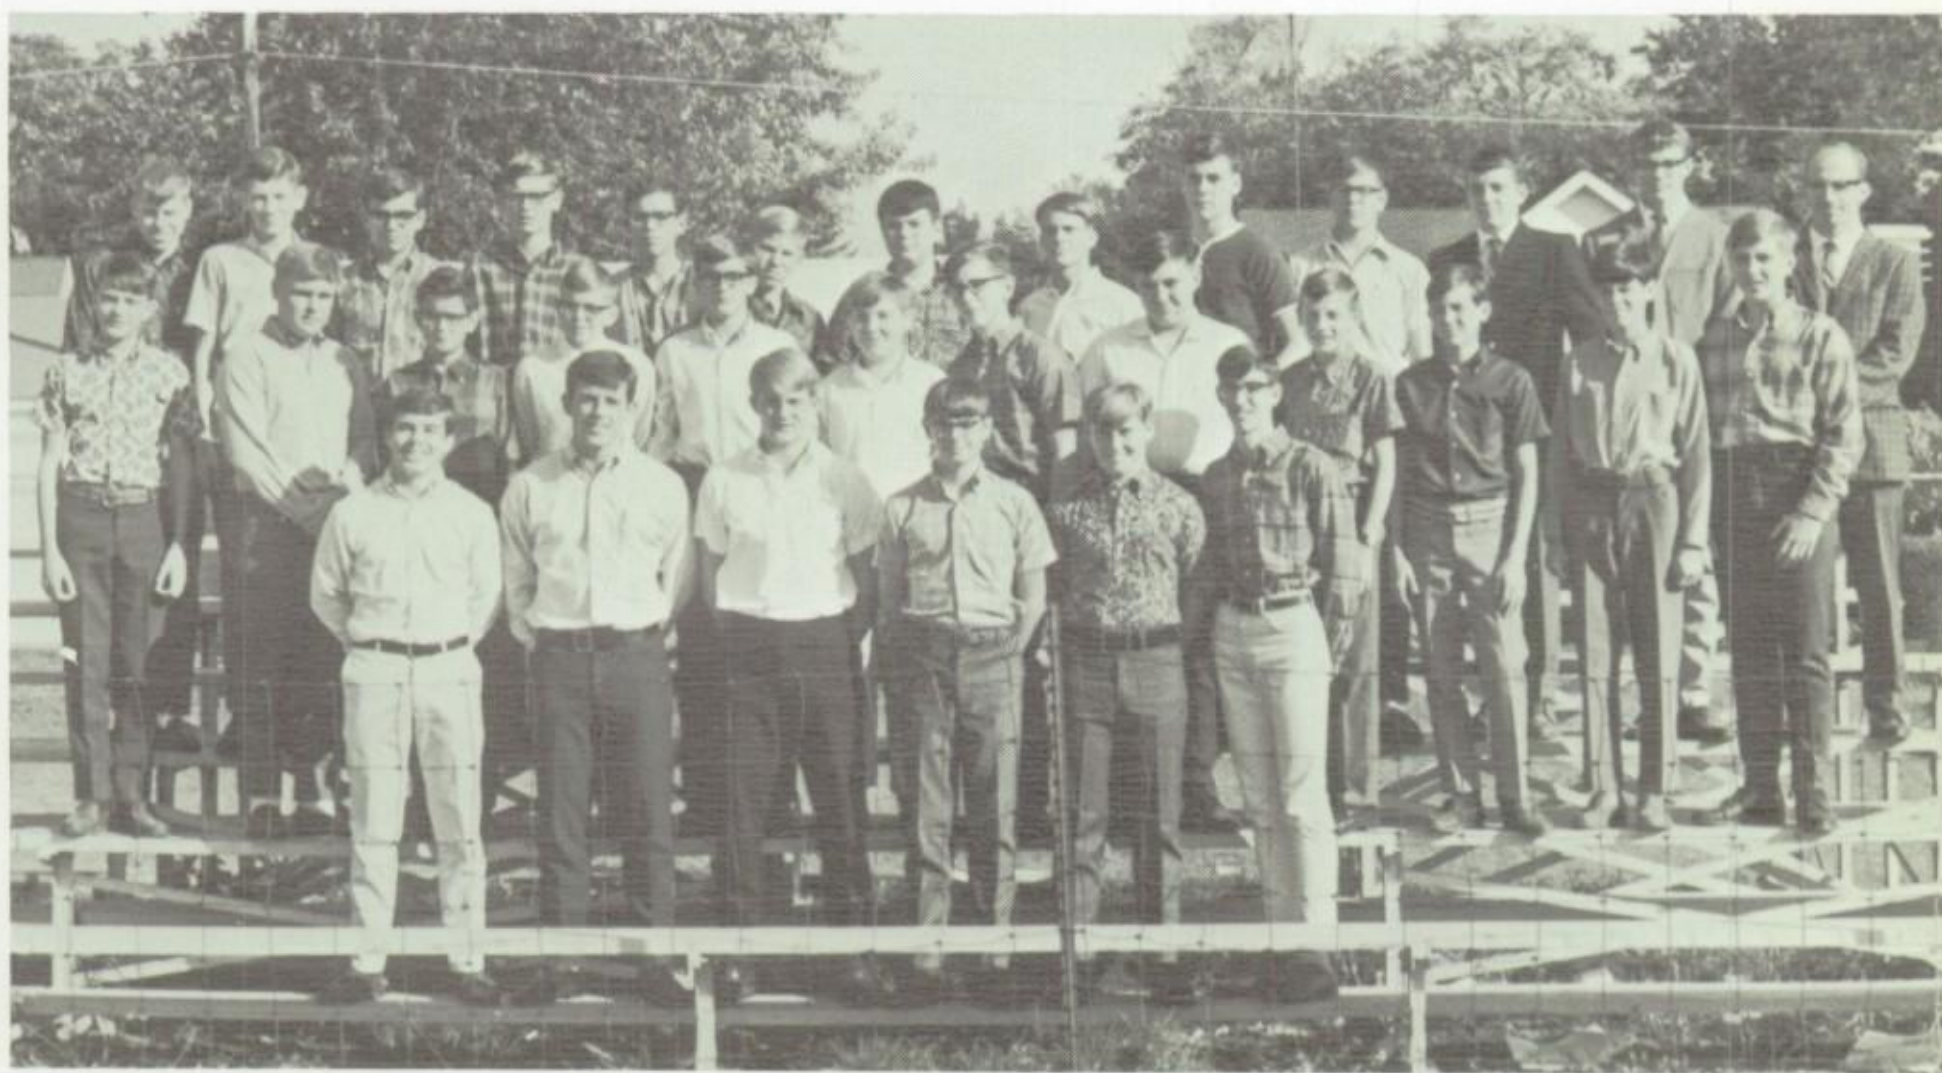

Junior Hi-Y, sponsored by Mr. John Cline, was organized during the current school year. The basic goals of this club are patterned after those set by Senior Hi-Y members.

It is the sincere endeavor of Freshmen and Sophomores who are members of this club to live by the code of the Christian life and to prepare themselves as worthy citizens in the local community, the nation, and the world.

In addition, Junior Hi-Y membership emphasizes the need for service contributions which will serve as examples for those who will follow.

FTA Members Encounter World of Children

Future Teachers of America is an organization which seeks to promote the interest of high school students in the area of education. FTA members learn about the requirements, preparation, and opportunities which exist on the elementary, high school, and college levels of teaching.

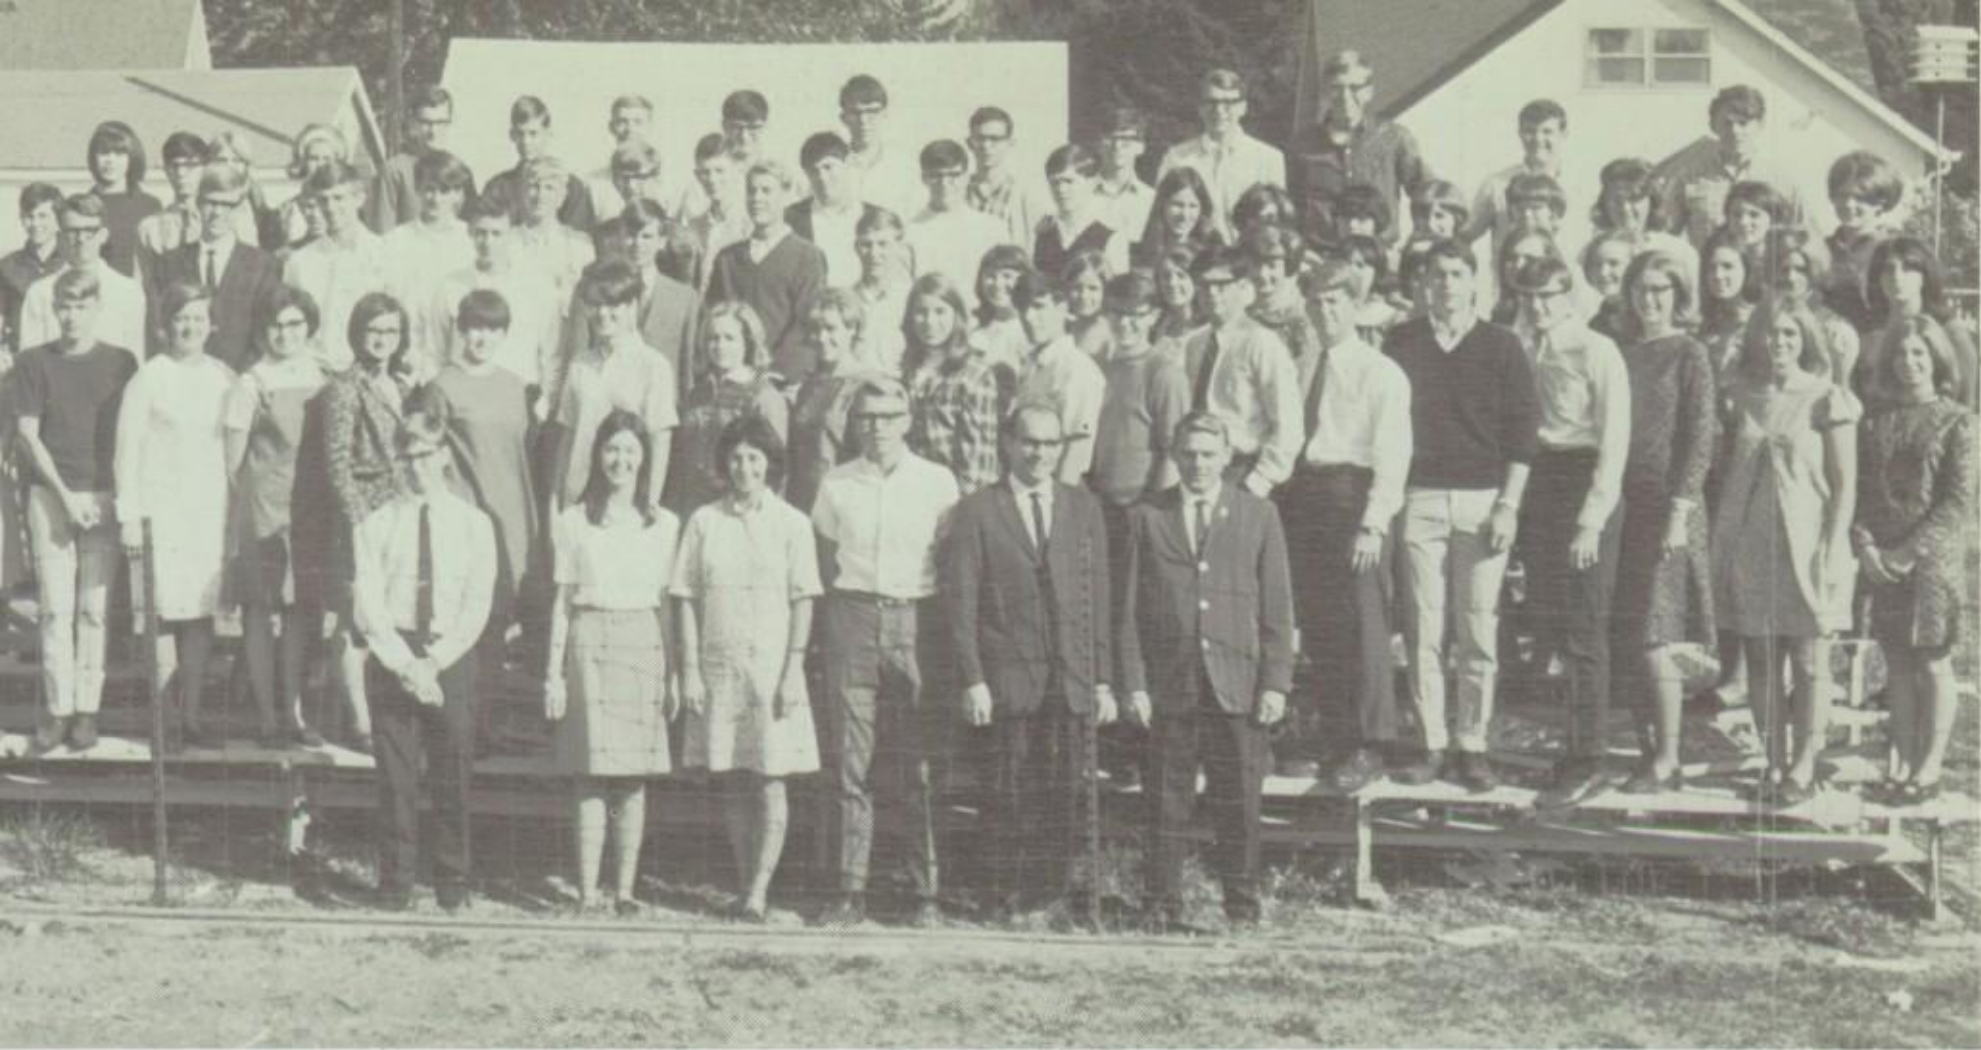

During the past year, FTA, sponsored by Mr. Larry Fox, has pursued many avenues of information to further their knowledge of the teaching profession. Seniors, for example, are given an opportunity to do cadet teaching, thus acquainting themselves with the various aspects and demands of teaching actively.

Club Offers Varied Educational Opportunities

A 'B' average in either Math or Science is necessary for full-fledged membership in the Math and Science Club, co-sponsored by Mr. Charles Wise and Mr. William Harpring. Students with a 'C' average in these subjects are eligible for associate membership, with certain limitations on club privileges.

The Math and Science Club is affiliated with the Future Scientists of America.

For the fifth year in a row the club members have participated in the M.A.A. Contest. There are winners from each class and also a high point winner. Awards range from a pin to a valuable mathematics Handbook of Tables.

Piñata is Symbol of Spanish Festivities

Understanding Spanish Culture is an important objective of the Spanish Club, sponsored by Miss Esther Bower. During the school year club members arrange to have several dinners in restaurants which specialize in preparing Spanish foods. Of course, this may sometime include too much hot sauce.

Another highlight of Spanish Club activity are the visits to Clowes Hall to view programs of Spanish Culture.

This year a unique worthy service was performed by new club members. As part of their initiation, they spent part of a day picking up litter left on the school grounds following a football game.

Art Club Captures Spirit of the Season

Art Club members are generous with their talent. Their projects, which are on display throughout the building, reflect a wide area of interests. Art Club students, sponsored by Mrs. Jean Demegret, perform many valuable services from which we all benefit. Examples of such effort include attractive bulletin boards, signs which identify teachers in their respective rooms, eye-catching displays in the front hall trophy cases, etc.

Of course, one of the Art Club's outstanding achievements has the supervision of the Junior Prom decorations, under the guidance of Mrs. Demegret.

Abundant Talent Proves Useful to Thespians

Greenfield's High School Drama Club is a composite of many talents. Among its members are those whose interest lies in performing; others' efforts result in the construction of necessary props; some show talent in the costume department; and many serve as prompters.

The spirit of this club's members is tremendous. Everyone reflects enthusiasm and pleasure in the work he is doing.

Success of our theater arts efforts rests in good leadership: Gary Wheeler, president; Carol Gossett, vice-president; and Susan Free, secretary-treasurer.

Co-sponsors, Mrs. Jane Keene and Richard Greenland devote many after-school hours planning and directing all-school productions. Their efforts have instilled a deeper appreciation of the theater arts.

Red Cross Takes Part in World Affairs

Marcia Wilson, Thetis Roudebush, Cindy Barr, and Sally Sipple come to the rescue of Mel King.

Our high school Red Cross Club, sponsored by Mrs. Reita Bertsch, is affiliated with the American Red Cross. Its present headquarters, where all meetings are held, is located above Danner's store.

As does the senior organization, Junior Red Cross members perform many vital and thoughtful services. This year Greenfield's Junior Red Cross prepared and shipped packages to our soldiers in Viet Nam.

The consideration of Junior Red Cross members is also reflected in the chest which they filled with candy and small gifts and which was sent to the less fortunate in a disaster area.

Spirited Band Brings Honor to GHS Students

Pep and Dance Bands Worthy of Recognition

Along with Winning Athletic teams, Greenfield High School has a winning group of musicians, members of the Pep and Dance Bands, directed by Mr. Huntworth.

Pep Band was organized to encourage spirit at basketball games a few years ago. The band's participation was a contributing factor in our team's success this year. It produced the right effect of enthusiasm and spirit in music. Often band and Cheerblock combined to perform familiar strains of "Rock 'Em!" and the "Chevy Song." Hearing our band play our school song and National Anthem before the games begin has always been impressive.

The Stage Band was organized a few years ago to play popular dance music. Now it performs popular music at dinners and concerts and always wins praise.

The major GAA team sports include basketball, volleyball, baseball, and track. On the list of individual sports activity are bowling, billiards, tennis and archery.

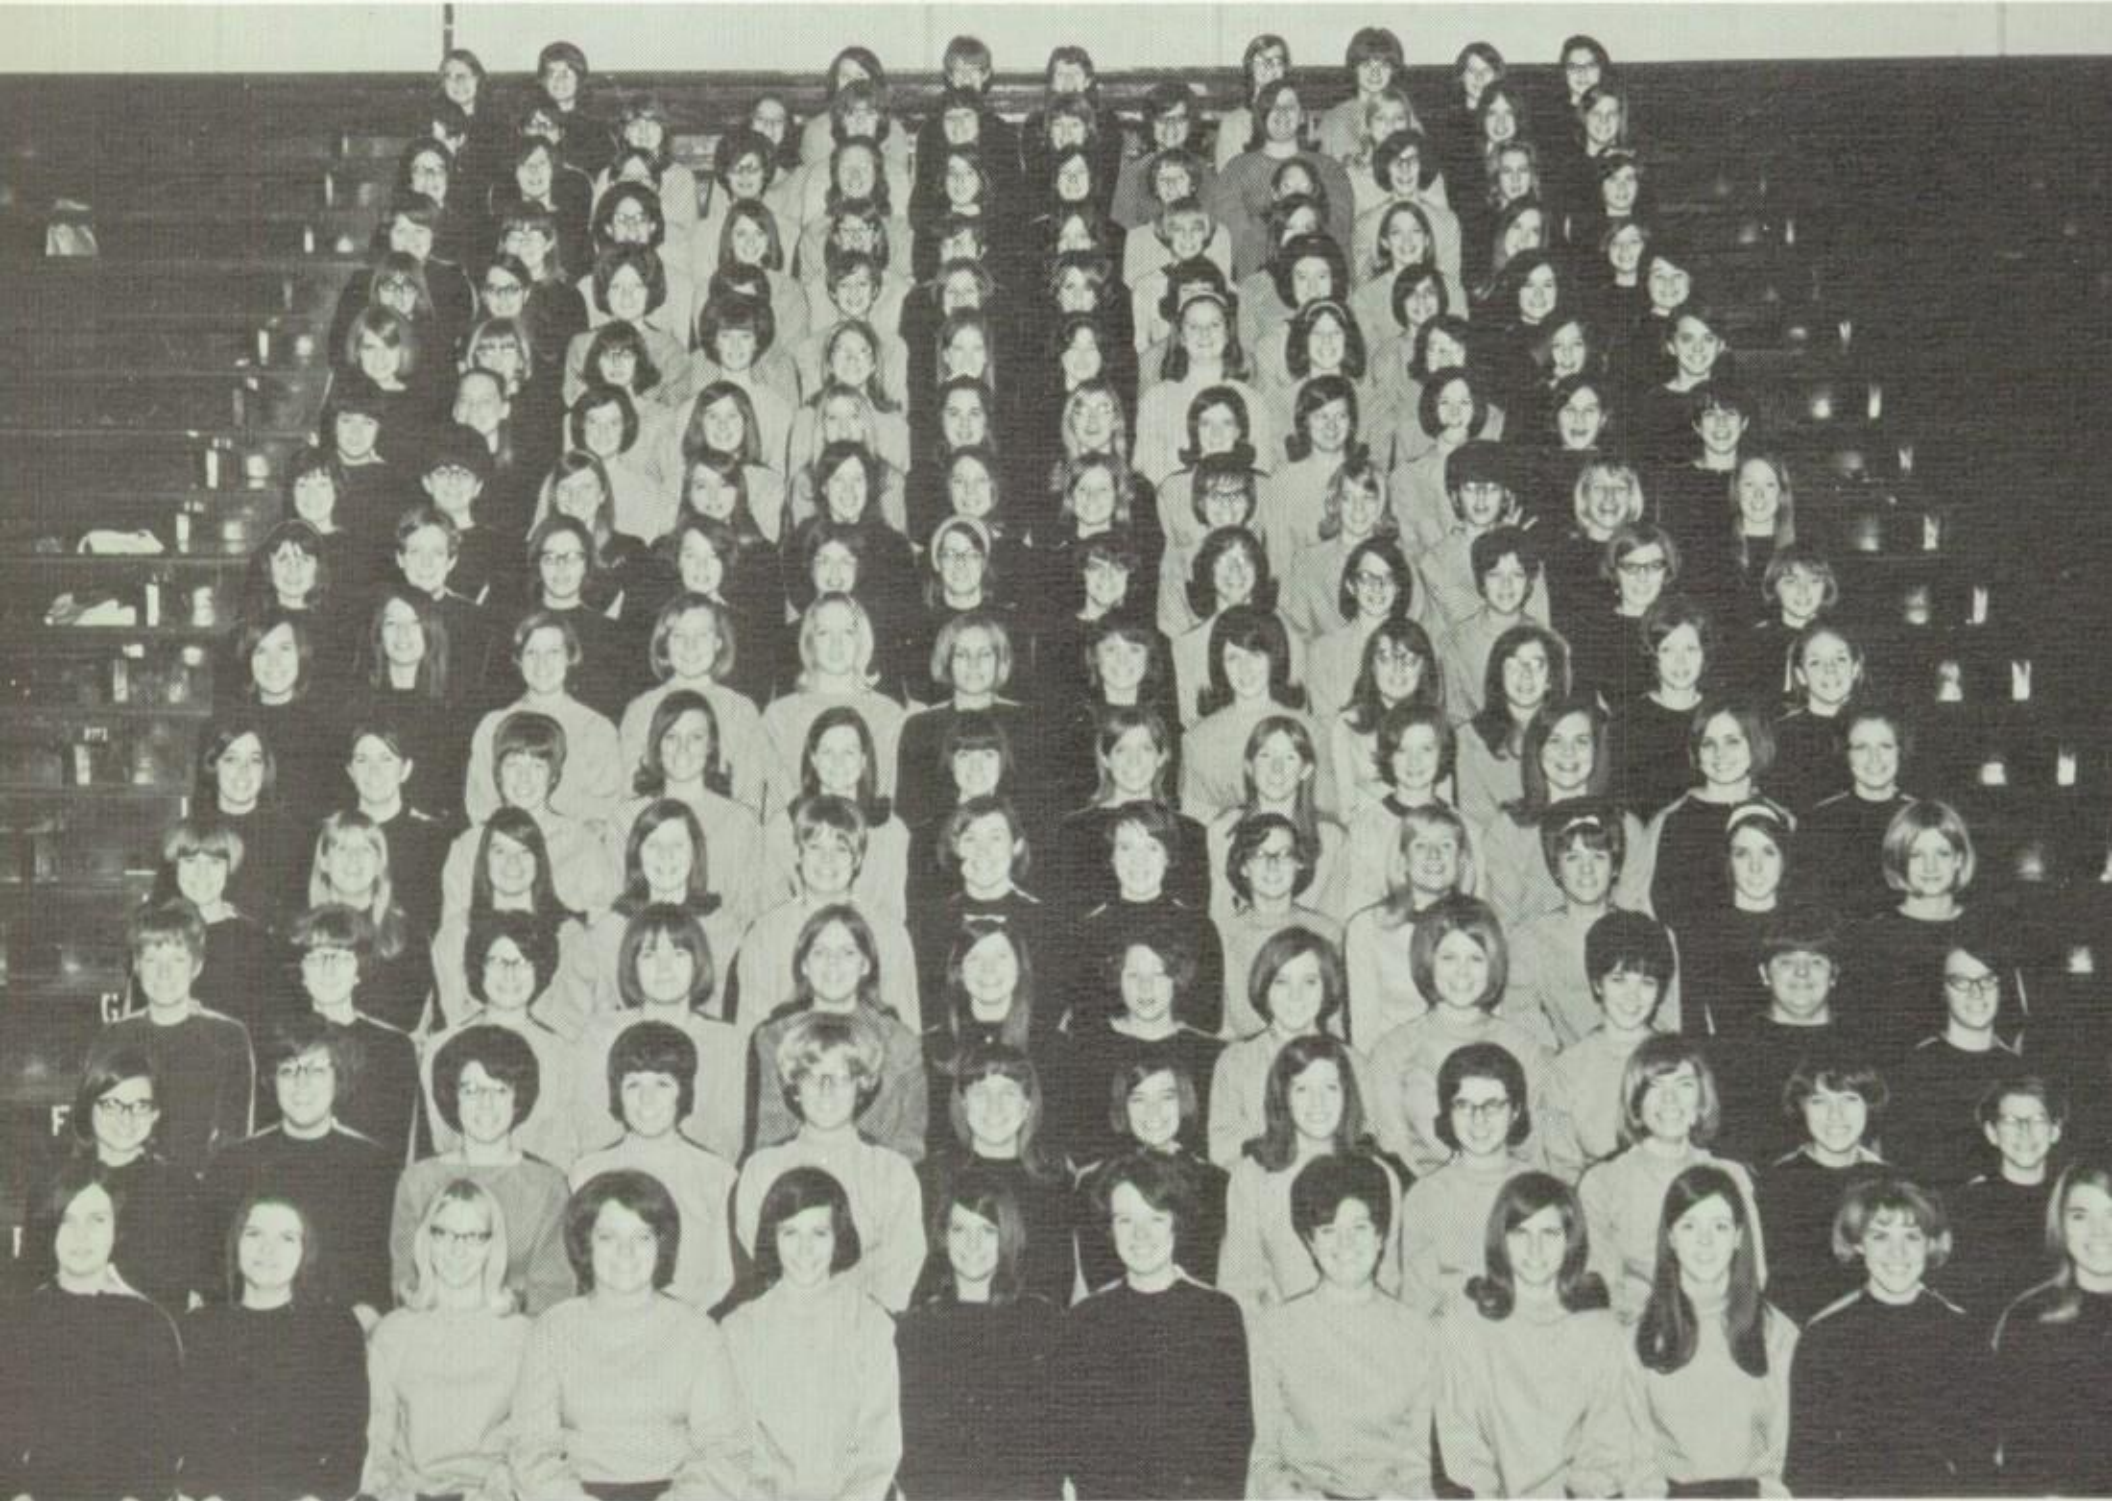

Class tourneys are scheduled for some sports, but a major portion of the time is spent in regular play which involves a mixture of classes.

In the spring of each year our GAA enters a District and State track meet. We are proud of their record in past years.

GAA tumblers exhibit skill and balance.

Lettermen Find Challenge in Athletic Competition

The GHS Lettermen's Club is an organization for young athletes which encourages high level performance in all sports.

Members of the Lettermen's Club, sponsored by Mr. Clayton Myers, are young athletes whose achievement has been recognized with letter awards.

Currently, the highest award a member can receive is a blanket which requires 20 units of recognized athletic performance.

Until this year the highest award was a jacket which was presented after a boy had earned 12 units for sports performance.

Lettermen John Dishman, Rick Gregory, Tom Strickland, and Marty King.

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS: Wanda Yundt, Kathy Curtis, Marsha Brooks, Brenda Mullen, Patty Pittman.

Cheerleaders Urge Tigers on to Victory

In all schools cheerleaders hold an exalted and respected position among students. Greenfield High School is no exception. From the Freshman to the Varsity squad, our cheerleaders bring credit to our school. Sportsmanship reigns supreme. They are the girls who encourage winning and they are always on the lookout to discourage angry words and unmannerly Boos.

Each summer the Varsity and Reserve cheerleaders attend camp at Vincennes University where new yells are taught and old friendships revived. After a week, the cheerleaders return home full of enthusiasm and plans for the coming year. They are not content, however, to sit and enjoy the short summer months. They must practice long hours and must work in the community to earn enough money for new cheerleading outfits. This year they also sold Tiger Stickers during Sectional week to raise money.

Diane Sisson as "Tuffy" is a real Tiger.

RESERVE CHEERLEADERS: Susie Ash, Janet Butterfield, Carol Thomas, Carol Grier.

FRESHMAN CHEERLEADERS: Kathi Brooks, Pam Shore, Joyce Shively, Sharon Anderson.

Staff members Sudi Mahin, Brenda Mullen, John Roberts, Carolyn Tracy, and Pam Tannehill compare school papers.

The Rileyan, a self-supporting newspaper, serves as a tie-line between school and home. It is issued eight times during the school year.

Journalism class students work hard as reporters. Under the guidance of their teacher and sponsor, Mrs. Lee, Rileyan reporters strive to write about achievement in all phases of school life.

These members of the G.H.S. Journalism class deserve praise for their enthusiastic effort in promoting the sale of advertising and subscriptions to make a school newspaper a reality.

The most exciting money-raising event of the school year is the Valentine King and Queen Contest. Class competition is very keen during this time.

Concentration Brings Chess Club Victory

The Greenfield High School Chess Club is a comparative new comer on our roster of clubs. However, under the guidance of sponsor, Mr. Ray Bartnick, our chess enthusiasts have benefited in many ways.

Long hours of practice by members has resulted in playing proficiency. Often G.H.S. Chess Club members travel to other schools to compete in tournaments.

This is definitely a club for individuals who derive pleasure and enjoyment from concentration.

Mr. Barnick, master of concentration, considers Chuck's next move.

"If I lose my Queen again . . ."

Library Club Stimulates Interest in Reading

The goal of the Library Club is to promote the use of the library for research and extra-curricular reading.

Worthy projects are also pursued by Library Club members. Accumulated club dues and money raised during soc-hops made possible the purchase of books for retarded children, who attend classes at the Boys' Club. Presentation was made during a Christmas party for the children.

In the spring of 1968, Library Club members hosted a trip to the Children's Zoo. Guests were the retarded children of Greenfield.

Last year Library Club members donated $100 to be used in the purchase of new library books.

Concert Choir Combines Numerous Talents

Each morning the sound of choral singing can be heard in the halls of our building. This is the tune when Voice Director, Mr. Richard Greenland, works with three voice groups: the Concert Choir, Voice Class, and the Freshman Chorus.

Freshman Chorus members meet during home room period. During the Christmas season these students are guest performers at the Junior High.

Voice Class is principally composed of sophomores whose ambitions are to develop their voice techniques in order to become eligible for performance in the Concert Choir.

Bells Are Ringing, a musical, was presented in the high school auditorium last fall. The choral features of this highly successful Broadway production were presented by members of the GHS Concert Choir.

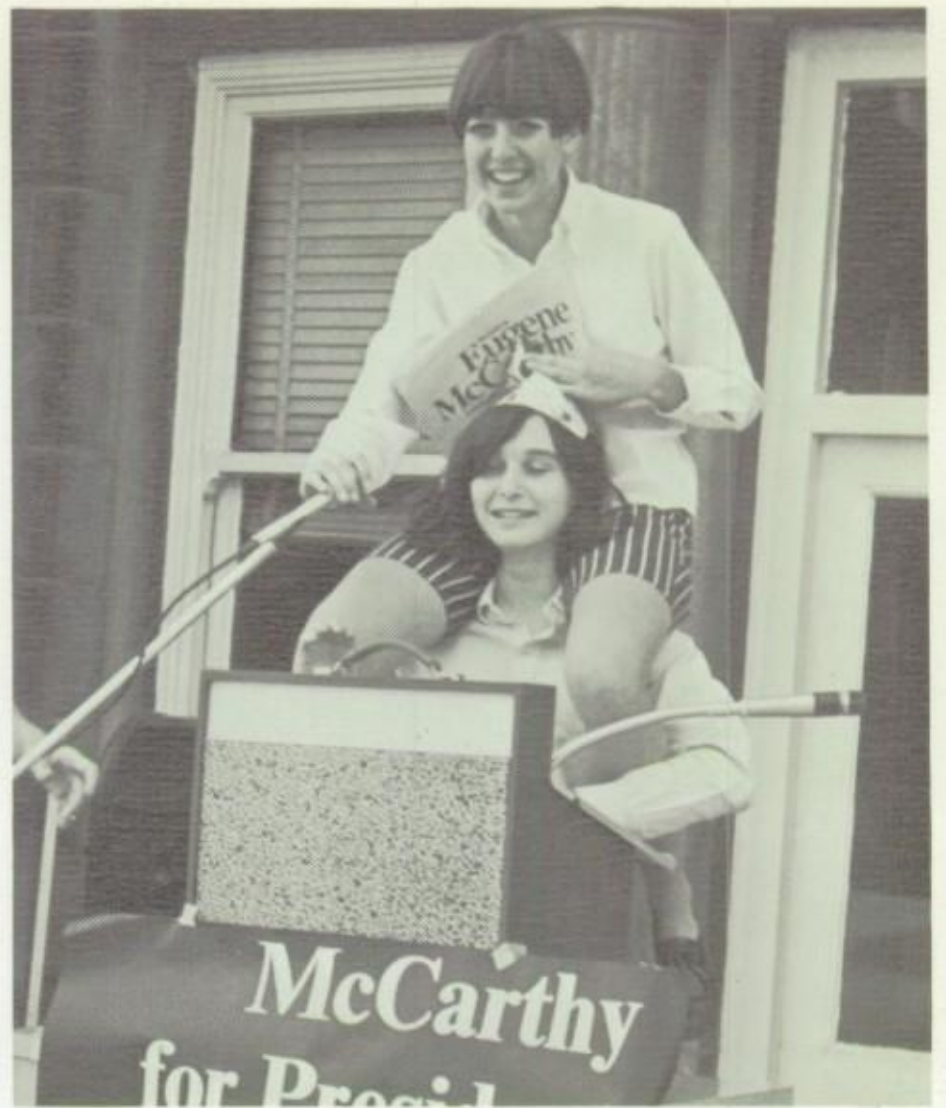

Members of the GHS Voice Department under Mr. Greenland's direction, participated in a number of private performances, the Christmas Concert, and the Annual County Music Festival.

Mr. Greenland demonstrates to cast a definite flair is needed in acting.

A student body is the sum total of many-faceted personalities. A student body reflects the result of decisions, plans and choices. Within a student body exists much happiness, some sorrow and varying degrees of maturity. In a final analysis the student body is oneness in the direction of higher goals.

Seniors Prepare for

Senior class officers: Rick Coffin, vice pres.; Karen Kirkpatrick, treas.; John Howell, pres.; Marilyn Walker, sec.

High School seniors have always held a special place in the educative process. These students represent the harvest of a 4-year preparation. It is a wrap up of past effort and achievement which serves as foundation for future course.

Many of the Class of 1968 have served as class officers during their high school years. Two from this class have been applauded as Homecoming Queen and member of the Queen's Court.

For four consecutive years GHS has won the Capital District All-Sports Trophy. The athletic talent in the Class of 1968 served in commendable measure toward this goal of high recognition.

Thirty-three members of this graduating class are members of the National Honor Society. In addition, there are many who have served in various capacities as organization officers.

During Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays seniors have spearheaded drives to bring comfort and a measure of happiness to the less fortunate.

May the future shine brightly on each and every member of the Class of 1968.

Juniors Mirror Progress

Enthusiastic Junior participation is reflected in a heavily scheduled year which began with class ring distribution. Wearing of the school ring signifies upper-classmanship.

Leading Juniors to outstanding achievement were president, Tom New; vice-president, Richard Gray; secretary, Cindy Smith; and treasurer, David Reuter.

Homecoming was a highlight for third-year students. Their float, "Make Their Charge Negative" was a first-prize winner. Anne Dudley added to class honors as a member of the Queen's Court.

As the year drew to a close, a healthy financial balance was assured to cover cost of the Prom. This was made possible by Juniors working from the concessions during home scheduled football and basketball games.

Triumphant Sophomores smile back. Anxieties have lessened and their hearts are full of hope. They stand on the threshold of a new experience.

We see lovely Donna Foster reigning as a member of the Queen's Court during Homecoming festivities.

In our reflections is another outstanding event—National Honor Society Induction. A growing number in the Sophomore class are being recognized for high scholastic achievement, leadership, and integrity.

It is the year when Sophomores are administered the National Education Development Tests; the year when much athletic effort is pinned to the hope of Varsity participation.

Freshman Reflect Enthusiasm

Looking into the mirror of the past, we see this year's Freshmen happy in the discovery that the first high school year is full of rewards which rest upon a deeper sense of values and appreciation.

We see many being introduced to the fun of participating membership in extra-curricular activities—Cheerblock, clubs, Band, athletic competition, et cetera.

Freshmen pride is reflected in the selection of Jean Griffing as their Queen's Court representative during Homecoming activities. Building the class float, A Flash In the Pan, is revealed as another exciting and new experience.

Freshmen leadership is represented in class president, Richard Keith; vice-president, Dan Rihm; secretary, Sara New; and treasurer, Jerry Marshall.

School Assistants Perform Varied Jobs

Our genial and sympathetic school secretary is Mrs. Larry Riddle. She is assisted by Mrs. Lyle Rasmussen whose main concern is accurate accounting.

Both ladies are definite assets to our school organization. Just their being where we could talk to them has resolved many problems.

The valuable services performed by our office cadets includes collecting attendance slips, typing, collating materials, etc. Their many duties are carried out in the offices of Mr. Tidrow, Mr. Pfaff, and Miss Gray.

Our school maintenance organization includes Mr. Ed Young, Stationary Engineer, who is assisted by Jack Holliday, Frances Thompson and Sammy Haines.

The responsibilities and duties of these gentlemen are many. Through their efforts our school building receives a periodic facelifting.

Living

To touch the cup with eager lips and taste,
not drain it;

To woo and tempt and court a bliss—and not attain it;

To fondle and caress a joy, yet hold it lightly;
Lest it become a necessity and cling too tightly;

To watch the sun set in the west without regretting;

To hail its advent in the east—the night forgetting;

To smother care in happiness and grief in laughter;

To hold the present close—not questioning hereafter;

To have enough to share—to know the joy of giving;

To thrill with all the sweets of life—is living.

What is a Camaraderie? Webster defines camaraderie as familiarity and good will among comrades. To GHS students the Camaraderie is a long-awaited yearbook relating the festivities during homecoming, the healthy competition for basketball sectionals, the gaiety of prom time, plus the everyday miracle of learning in the classroom.

Compiling this record of events is a difficult, but rewarding task. The 1968 Camaraderie staff would like to express their appreciation to Mrs. Ann Lee, sponsor, who devoted many after school hours in planning and developing this yearbook. Also aiding in the development of the yearbook was Principal Ernest Tidrow who supervised the necessary scheduling of formal pictures. A special thanks goes to Dale Briles (pictured above) and Phil Hollenbough of DaJo Studios for their cooperation in the area of photography.

In conclusion, the staff composed of Sally Draper, editor; Anne Dudley and Betsy Smith, asst. Editors; Betsy Hunt, organizations editor; Mark Shumard, photographer; Rick Keeven, sports editor; Diane Jenkins, academics editor; would like to thank the entire student body, and faculty for their cooperation in the publication of the 1968 Camaraderie.
